Hunter Safety Reminders & Tips:

Firearm Handling Rules
- Treat every gun as loaded: Never assume a firearm is empty, even if someone just handed it to you; always open the breach to check it yourself.
- Control the muzzle: Keep your firearm pointed in a safe direction at all times, and never point it at anything you do not intend to shoot.
- Keep your finger off the trigger: Rest your finger outside the trigger guard until your sights are locked on the target and you are ready to make a clean shot.
- Unload at obstacles: Clear the chamber or completely unload your gun before climbing a fence, crossing a slick log, or navigating a stream.

Visibility & Target Identification
- Wear blaze orange: Make yourself clearly visible to other hunters by wearing high-visibility orange clothing, and avoid colors or patterns that mimic game.
- Identify your target—and what is beyond: Know what is directly in front of, near, and behind your target before pulling the trigger, keeping ricochets in mind.
- Be cautious with antlers/decoys: Take extra care when packing out game or using decoys so other hunters do not mistake your movement or gear for an animal.

Navigation & Emergency Preparation
- Tell someone your plans: Let a trusted family member or friend know your exact location, your intended route, and your expected return time.
- Don't rely solely on electronics: Cell phones and GPS units can lose battery, break, or lose signal; always carry a physical topographic map and a compass (and know how to read them).
- Pack basic survival gear: Bring extra layers of weather-appropriate clothing, a flashlight, a charged phone, a loud whistle, and a basic first-aid kit.
